Dear Sir:

Microsoft is one of this countries leading growth companies. They have contributed to our economy and citizens, and we personally have benefited from their products at a fair price.

This action is about money. How to extract money from a successful company by politicians, competitors, and the government. You cannot fool the public.

Perhaps 50% of all U.S. citizens have some interest in Microsoft, either through stock or their products, and this action effects them.

We have more important problems to expend our resources on, THE ECONOMY.
